Dear Families and Friends:

It is truly an honor and a privilege for me to open the 2024-2025 school year once again as your Superintendent. Back-to-school is a time of exciting new beginnings, from the newest little Warriors walking into our elementary school for the very first time to our 8th graders embarking on their final year walking through our hallways. We are please to help make all these experiences memorable for our students.

Having spent six years at Holland, and 30 years in education, I have always seen the first day of school as a big celebration making the start of a great school year. I am immensely proud of Holland School and hope everyone can see that our entire district staff shares this pride with our students and our community. It is with much excitement that we look forward to the start of the school year on August 28th.

This school year, the district has committed to several goals which include raising student academic performances districtwide, expanding the support and resources available to students and staff to promote their mental and physical well-being, increasing family and community engagement and communication, and continuing to enhance our safety and security measures. Much of the work toward meeting these goals has already begun over the summer months.

Please take time to visit our new district website to become familiar with the links which will aid you in keeping up to date with district happenings, many important topics are addressed here:
